The Elements #4 Air John Boynepublished 2025

Being in limbo, 30,000 feet in the air, offers time to reflect and take stock. For Aaron Umber, it's an opportunity to connect with his 15-year-old son as they travel halfway across the world to meet a woman who isn't expecting them. This trip could bind them closer together, or tear them further apart.

What Kind of Paradise Janelle Brownpublished 2025

Growing up in Montana in the mid-1990s, Jane knows only the world that she and her father live. As Jane becomes a teenager she starts pushing against the boundaries. She begs to accompany her father on his occasional trips away from the cabin. But when Jane realizes that her devotion to her father has made her an accomplice to a horrific crime, she flees Montana to the only place she knows to look for answers about her mysterious past.

Harvill Secker Her Many Faces. Nicci Clokepublished 2025

When four wealthy members are poisoned at London's most exclusive private club, a young waitress is arrested. As her personal life and upbringing are picked over, her obsession with online conspiracy theories is exposed. After the murder accusation, five men begin to question how well they really knew her. To each of them, she is someone entirely different. But which is the true face of Katherine Cole? And is she a killer?

Under the eye of the big bird Hiromi Kawakamipublished 2016

Humans are on the verge of extinction and have settled in tribes across the planet under the observation and care of "Mothers." Some children are made in factories; some live by getting nutrients from water and light. The survival of the race depends on the interbreeding of these and other alien beings--but it is far from certain that connection, love, reproduction, and evolution will persist among the inhabitants of this faltering new world.

NON FICTION*Mother Mary Comes to Me Arundhati Roypublished 2025*

Mother Mary Comes to Me, Arundhati Roy's first work of memoir, is a soaring account, both intimate and inspirational, of how the author became the person and the writer she is, shaped by circumstance, but above all by her complex relationship to the extraordinary, singular mother she describes as "my shelter and my storm."

Why We SwimBonnie Tsuipublished 2020*

We swim in freezing Arctic waters and piranha-infested rivers to test our limits. We swim for pleasure, for exercise, for healing. But humans, unlike other animals that are drawn to water, are not natural-born swimmers. We must be taught. Our evolutionary ancestors learned for survival; now, in the twenty-first century, swimming is one of the most popular activities in the world.

The Wiles Lectures Empires of the Mind: The Colonial Past and the Politics of the Present Robert Gildeapublished 2019

The empires of the future would be the empires of the mind' declared Churchill in 1943, envisaging universal empires living in peaceful harmony. Robert Gildea exposes instead the brutal realities of decolonisation and neo-colonialism which have shaped the postwar world. Even after the rush of French and British decolonisation in the 1960s, the strings of economic and military power too often remained in the hands of the former colonial powers.
